

Tigers, Cubs Bare Their Fangs for Bitter Fight to Finish

Series Enters Rough House Stage In Riotous 3rd Game

Eleven-Inning Battle Completely Disorganizes Pitching Staffs of Two Clubs; Cochrane Picks Crowder; Tex Carleton May Be Cub Choice

By HENRY McLEMORE
Chicago, Oct. 5 (UP)—The Chicago Cubs and the Detroit Tigers may get today on the grass of Wrigley Field today and wrestle for the fourth game of the World Series.

Or they may stand up and fight it out with their fists and spikes, after Detroit won yesterday 6-5.

Ready To Close In
Today both camps are ready to abandon long range fighting and close in for a bit of man to man work.

Today, unless there is a last minute switch, the Cubs will call on Tex Carleton, and the Tigers on General Alvin Crowder.

Carlton barely beat par during the National League season, winning eleven while losing eight. A member of the Cards last year, he started against the Tigers and had his ears pinned back in beautiful fashion.

Big Parade
It is a safe bet that if Carleton and the general start, relief pitchers down to the fourth and fifth generation will see service before the afternoon's fun is completed.

The experts insist there is only one logical choice for Grimm to make—Larry French. French pitched but two innings yesterday, and is fresh.

Cochrane Smart
Win or lose, Cochrane is smart in calling on Crowder. If by some miracle, the general should stagger through nine innings to a victory, the Tigers would be all but in.

Galesburg, Ill., Oct. 5 (UP)—Knox college stretched its winning streak to two games by defeating Macomb Western Teachers 14 to 7 in a Little 19 conference game yesterday.

BURKE RUNS WILD AS DRAGONS DOWN WILDCATS, 39 TO 0

STAR HALFBACK COUNTS FOUR TIMES IN ROUT OF WAHPETON SCIENCE

Nemzek Uses Regulars Only Few Minutes; Reserves Bear Brunt Of Engagement
By ED EASTMAN
Wahpeton, N. D., Oct. 5—A ram-paging Moorhead State Teachers' college football team registered six touchdowns to defeat the Wahpeton Science School Wildcats 39-0 here Friday afternoon.

Willard Burke, star halfback for Coach Sly Nemzek's forces, ran wild during the short time he was in the game.

Gotta Injured
Inserted into the fray when Marco Gotta was injured, Burke on the third play broken loose around his own right end on the 42-yard line and scored.

In the second quarter the Dragons again counted twice, on Orrin Rife's short line plunge and on an intercepted pass by John Ielmini, freshman guard, who ran 70 yards to register a score.

During the third quarter Coach Earl Butte's Wildcats fought savagely to hold on even terms a Dragon on eleven made up completely of reserves.

In the final period Coach Nemzek inserted his eleven into the game and in the four minutes they were in the fray they counted two more touchdowns, on runs of 32 and 21 yards by Burke.

BISON UNIMPRESSIVE IN 14-0 WIN OVER MAROONS

BY DICK HACKENBERG

North Dakota State's thundering herd of Bison gridders, lacking much of the thunder and minus the lightning that carried them to victory over Concordia and held Minnesota to a hard-earned decision in their first two starts, managed to negotiate a 14-0 triumph at the expense of a surprisingly tough Morningside eleven on Dacotah field last night.

That one completed pass out of six tries floated 35 yards from Erling Schranz to Greg Sloan, who sprinted an additional 25 yards to the goal line in the second quarter.

McLEMORE REPORTS GEHRINGER TO BE SERIES' BEST PLAYER
By HENRY McLEMORE
Chicago, Oct. 5 (UP)—A few hit and runs from this, the World Series of 1935:

They're calling Phil Cavarretta "Heinie" now, because Phil, in his anxiety to get Rogell out at second on a double steal in the eighth inning yesterday allowed Fox to score from third with the run that split the difference between 6 and 5.

It was Heinie Zimmerman of the Giants, you will remember, who, in the World Series between the White Sox and Giants in 1917 chased Eddie Collins across the plate with the winning run.

Landis Investigates Case Of Chicago vs. Moriarity

Bruins Enraged At What They Said Was Abusive Language Used By Umpire In Hectic 11-Inning Battle; Three Of Their Number Ejected

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
Chicago, Oct. 5 (UP)—The World Series today developed into a bitter feud.

Enraged over what they said was abusive language used by Umpire George Moriarity, in the dramatic 11th inning game yesterday, the Chicago Cubs were up in arms and threatened to cause serious trouble unless Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis curbed the American league arbiter.

Landis Investigates
Landis today was investigating the altercation. He heard Moriarity's version last night but would disclose nothing.

Moriarity called Billy Herman, Cubs, second baseman, an unprintable name yesterday. Several Chicago players heard Moriarity. Only the coolness of Johnny Corriden, Chicago coach, prevented Billy Jurgens, Cubs' shortstop from punching Moriarity during the height of the feud, which saw three National league players banished.

Grimm last night protested to Commissioner Landis. Phil Wrigley, owner of the Cubs, conferred with Ford Frick, National league president, last night, but said he did not discuss the Moriarity incident.

"We lost," said Wrigley. "It would look like we were trying to build up an alibi if I said anything. I'm leaving everything up to my manager, Charlie Grimm."

Frick refused to be quoted about the matter, but admitted that he heard Moriarity's remarks when he came over to the Chicago dugout to banish Woody English, Cubs' non-playing captain, and George Stainback, Cubs' utility outfielder, from the game.

Moriarity has a reputation for being quick-tempered and has been involved in trouble before with ball players. Early in the season of 1932, Moriarity engaged in a fist fight with several members of the Chicago White Sox after a game at Cleveland. He injured his hand in the battle and was out of action for several weeks.

Art Lasky's Sudden Decline From Heights Shock to Boxing World

ART LASKY
ONE OF PUGILISM'S UNFORTUNATES, RATED SECOND IN LINE FOR THE HEAVY CROWN SIX MONTHS AGO, HIS QUICK TUMBLE FROM THE HEIGHTS HAS SHOCKED THE FIGHT WORLD

By JOHN J. ROMANO
Art Lasky is a pathetic testimonial of the hardships attending the slow climb and rapid decline of a topnotch fighter within the short space of 10 months.

He was taking a trick at the mast. The hurly-burly sailor was considered just a willing young man who knew more about punching cows than humans. The same hard luck which trailed Lasky last year and forced a cancellation of his first date with Braddock and then added the latter in defeating the Jew-Isid was evident in the sixth round. A wild swing opened an old

HE WAS THE MINNEAPOLIS BOMBER AGAINST SLUX MEN AS LEVINSKY, RAMAGE, SEKURA, AND BIRKIE UNTIL BRADDOCK CHANGED HIS COURSE LAST MARCH

AND SO GOES THE SHORT CAREER OF A PUGILIST...

Minneapolis, to avenge an old defeat at the hands of Charley Retzlaff, an Art blamed Retzlaff for the technical kayo by Smith because it was the former who first opened the cut left eye and chalked up the first knockout registered against the Bomber's record.

Retzlaff Makes It Two Straight: Retzlaff is the big fellow Jack Hurley promoted into a series of unending knockouts in quick time. He once had to plead with sports writers not to publish Charley's record for fear that managers reading it would not permit their charges to swap punches with the big fellow he took into tow and publicized as a former cowboy who relished fighting in lickety-split fashion. Nevertheless, Hurley was never sure of Retzlaff. Every time he signed him for an important fight, he crossed his fingers and hoped he was making no mistake in doing so.
